FREE ADMISSION

1:30pm - HeadFirst

At the crossroads of all Hard-Rock Genre's, HeadFirst creates the kind of songs that feel as if you're being transported to the different eras of Rock n' Roll: Rebellious, Lustful, and Immense in scope but rooted in raw emotion. On their first studio single "Don't Care, Don't Mind", the Ontario-bred band paints a cinematic take on dancing the night away with a stranger in a bar, pushing further into the uncertainty of how it will end and truly encapsulating living in the present moment. This marks the first step in a long and dynamic journey for their unique take on the powerful decades that pre-dated them. Band Members: Red Jettison (Lead Singer); Claire Jeffery (Bass/co lead singer); Rainey Rancourt (Lead Guitar); Liam Dinsmore (Rhythm Guitar); Anthony Boudreau (Drums).

2:30pm - Miss Madii

Miss Madii is a local musician who started her music career at the age of 14 through the Korah rock band. From there she branched out to establish her own cover band and began writing original music; learning a variety of instruments along the way. Miss Madii is accompanied by friends/bandmates Liam Seymour on guitar, Dan Linklater on bass, and Blair St. John on drums and is excited to share her love of music through her songwriting.

Over the course of a dozen years to this point, Brandon has and continues to develop his skills as a versatile guitarist, singer-songwriter, performer and multi-instrumentalist.

4:00pm - Juliana Regan

Juliana Regan is a budding singer/songwriter from Sault Ste. Marie. Mostly known for taking on jazz standards, she is a vocal powerhouse with a timeless charm, who is entirely self-taught. Her original music, however, tends to land in the indie-folk genre, for the sake of story-telling and wordy poetry (and expounding her steady existential crises).

4:30pm - Jacob Valois Group

Jacob Valois is a musician, guitarist, and teacher, local to Sault Ste. Marie, ON. Jacob has performed with many different groups and talents in Northern Ontario such as Matthew Warnock, Roddy Elias, Northern Jazz Ensemble, and was a finalist in RBC & Jazz Sudbury's "2023 Emerging Artist Foundation". Joined by local talents, David Peredun, Jeff Holmes, Josh Norling & Martin Virta, this group offers all original compositions through a variety of styles, and an honest presentation of love for improvisation, spontaneity and creativity.

5:30pm - The Gambit

The Gambit is a band of five longtime friends united by their love of punk rock and craft beer. With a shared history playing in bands locally and around Ontario since the 90s, these forty-something-dads joined forces for this new project in 2022. After playing a few lively shows around town, the band is now working on recording new original material with songs being released on Bandcamp throughout 2024. The lineup features Christian Pasiak, Luc Schmiedendorf, and Steve Zuppa who share vocal and guitar duties, Dave Barratt on bass guitar and Clint Wilson on drums.

6:30pm - Crossroad Maggies

The Crossroad Maggies started out as a duo project between Greg MacLachlan and Christina Foster. The two longtime Friends enjoyed playing music together. Soon they realized they wanted a rhythm section and recruited Rob Foster, Aaron Dunn, and Al White. Together this band plays lots of classic tunes you will know and originals written by Greg MacLachlan.

7:30pm - Seth Brown Duo

Based out of the Great Lakes Region, the spirited duo blend their individual talents and over all joyfulness for life, forming this genuine acoustic Americana Country Folk duo. Contributing stories and songs that open the imagination, shine a silver lining on music, life, and love, inspiring desire all along the winding path. Band Members: Seth Brown (Vocals, Guitar); Desiree Brown (Percussion, Vocals).

8:30pm - Golden Scoundrels

Golden Scoundrels, a Country/Folk Rock quartet featuring Josh Penno, John Belanger, Brandon Ruch and Todd Webb. They'll swing their way into your soul! The dynamic shift this band offers through their sound will leave you laughing, crying, and howling with joy.
